DRAMA CLUB PRESENTS "THE SKELETON WALKS"

by Randy Dockendorf

Four weeks of hard work came to an end when the curtain closed for the final time on "The Skeleton Walks," the fall play of the Corsica High School Drama Club. It was presented on the evenings of November 15 and 16, along with a November 14 matinee.

The mystery-comedy centered on a lonely old house found on a deserted island, and the mad scientist and strong-willed young lady who fought over it. The members of the cast involved in the production were Dave Holstein, Pam Engelland, Al Heber, Karla Beukelman, Kathy Kuyper, Brian Stredde, Donn Bordewyk, Tami Hamburg, Carol Hubers, Barb Droppers, and Kent Dockendorf.

The audience seemed to enjoy the play, but what about the director? Miss Wagner comments, "This has to be the most successful play I've been involved in. There was teamwork among the cast, and they kept their poise in spite of all the 'bloops'. A big hand should be given to the crew, who did an excellent job, considering the many changes See DRAMA, p. 3

Fisher Named To All-State Team

by Randy Dockendorf

In a recent article, the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader calls the South Dakota All-State Football Team "the year of the juniors". That had a truth to it, as one of the lucky players to make the squad was CHS's own Kent Fisher.

CORSICA WINS CBH CONTEST

by Joyce Keith

Corsica High School ended the declam season with a victory at the CBH Declam Contest which was held in Kimball, Thursday, November 15. The third place winners of the Corsica Local Declam Contest competed in the CBH Contest.

Connie Rexwinkel entertained the audience with two satirical poems by Oliver Wendall Holmes. Connie received a second place medal and Kimball won first in the poetry division.

Debbie Bartelt did a superb job with a difficult speech by Leonid Brezhnev to win first place honors in oratory. Mt. Vernon took second place.

Renee Tecklenburg tickled everyone's funny bone with her modernized version of "The Three Little Pigs". Renee won first in the humorous division. Kimball took second place.

Pam Engelland did an excellent job in her dramatic presentation entitled "The Hunger Artist". Ethan and Kimball were the first and second place recipients. See DECLAM, p. 3

Help America Face Crisis

We are a generation who have lived with abundance, until now. We are faced with the possibility of a shortage of a valuable resource. With a background of such abundance how will we cope with a problem of this nature. Can we as the youth of America help face this critical problem? Our government has urged reduced speed, lower thermostats, and using less electricity. We can voluntarily cooperate before our government is forced to restrict our use by rationing and taxes. Driving 50 mph only means starting a few minutes earlier for your destination. Lowering our thermostats means an extra sweater, less electricity is a few less lights on.

To a people who have been basically wasteful this might take a little effort. So through it all lets smile. Remember it takes more energy to frown than to smile.
M.V.R.

The Juniors thought of a good way to associate the parents and students of Corsica High with the schools activities. They are going to sell buttons to help show support for our school. "I support the Comets" will be the theme on one of the buttons. The other will read, "Comet Power." We hope everyone will buy these pins so they can display their enthusiasm for our great school.

PRINCIPLE'S COMMENTS

by Mr. Neil Hall

The first parent-teacher conference was held on Monday, November 5th. All parents of the students were given a 10 minute session with the grade teachers and a 5 minute session with the high school teachers. The schedule was made up so that a certain time was given for the parents to discuss any problems of study, grades, and behavior. The conference was fairly well attended in high school but not as they should have been. The grade conference was well attended, however. I would encourage more parents to attend these conferences as our teachers feel they need to meet and communicate with you more. Usually the parents that don't show up are the parents we need to talk to and I feel that the parents are doing a disservice to their children by not coming in and talking to the teachers. So in the future I would hope that you parents keep this in mind and we have a much better turn out. Thank you for this opportunity of letting me express my views on this subject and getting them to you.

ROYALTY

by Debbie Bartelt

After a few weeks of busily selling carnival tickets, working hard on the play, and reciting declam pieces, the sophomores settled down with satisfying results.

At about 10:45 on November 2, the sophomores selling of tickets was rewarded when their candidates Randy Dykstra and Debbie Eggers were proudly crowned "1973 carnival Ding and Queen" by last years royalty Randy Olawsky and Linda Van Genderen, also sophomores.

Next on the schedule of events was the declam contest at Kimball which involved three sophomores; Pam Engelland, Renee Tecklenburg, and Debbie Bartelt. Renee and Debbie were greatly rewarded for all their work as they both received first place medals.

The play which included many sophomores was a great success. Those sophomores in the play were Karla Beukelman, Brian Stredde, Barb Droppers, Pam Engelland, and Carol Hubers.

Graduation Plans Take Form

Graduation plans seem unreal in November, but salesman Roger Riggs came Monday, November 19 to represent Jostens. He showed the seniors a variety of senior announcements and they made their selection. Roger Riggs also presented varied accessories for the seniors to choose from.

JUNIORS PREPARE

FOR ACTIVITIES

by Gloria Spaans

The Junior class has participated in very few activities as a class in the month of November, because everyone has been busy with all-school activities.

The Junior class is having a Pancake Supper on Saturday, December 1. The money will be used for the prom and other class activities.

Winter Sports are being prepared for by most of the juniors. The boys are practicing for basketball and wrestling, while the girls are preparing to support the teams as well as keeping the spectators happy by making concessions available.

SUPPORT THE CORSICA COMETS

The Corsica Comets

The seniors held a class meeting on November 14 to gain some ideas for raising money. The money will be used for senior skip days. The seniors were racking their brains for ways other than a slave sale to raise money.

Also, the seniors were awaiting the annual vacation for Turkey Day.

BE PREPARED FOR DISASTER--

IT COULD HAPPEN HERE

by Nancy Star

A disaster has occurred in Corsica! What are people doing to survive? Where and how are missing persons going to be located? Who is in charge of the injured? Nobody knows what to do. How could the citizens of Corsica be warned about the disaster?

Mr. Bill Newland related this situation and these questions to CHS students on November 13, 1973 at 2:00 p.m.

Mr. Newland related the Rapid City Flood Disaster to a disaster that could occur in the community in which we live. The students watched the slides that were shown on the flood disaster that effected Mr. Newland's home town on June 9, 1973. The slides showed the impact and power that a disaster can have on peoples lives and their property.

Mr. Newland encouraged the students to find out what can be done in a community before a disaster strikes.

CHS STUDENTS ATTEND SEMINAR

by Albert Heber

Sam Reimnitz and Albert Heber attended the Economic Seminar for Young Adults on November 7 and 8, held at the King's Inn in Pierre. They sat in and listened to nine addresses and participated in workshop groups with discussion leaders.

A couple speakers touched close to their hearts as the men spoke on strong points about the American enterprise and the challenge of change. The banquet speaker Wednesday evening was an old poet who is a little different from the rest of us but brought out the beauty in poetry. A dance was held Wednesday evening with "Bold Lightning," from Rapid City playing.

Sam and Albert would like to express their gratitude to the fine crew at the Corsica Bank for sponsoring them.

Custom Originates In Plymouth Colony

by Steve Bamberg

Thanksgiving is a day in which people of the United States and Canada get together with their friends, neighbors, and relatives. On this day people give thanks for the blessings they have received, and for the plentiful crops.

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated on December 13, 1621. This was the second winter the Plymouth Colonists had spent in the New World. Governor William Bradford decreed this day as the day for Thanksgiving because the colonists had a good crop. The governor and the people wanted to give thanks in some way.

The custom of Thanksgiving spread from the Ply-kota State Penitentiary for the purpose of relating with high school and other students the dangers and hassels of crime.

Since organized, "Operation Pitfall" has traveled 300,000 some miles, speaking to over 325,000 students in 516 schools in a three state area.

Each of the three inmates gave a 15 minute presentation pointing out how their lives of crime and futility began.

Walt 17-140 pointed out the dangers of alcohol. 86% of the men doing time in the State Pen are there for booze related offenses.

mouth Colony to the New England Colonies and into Canada. Thanksgiving was observed on many different days.

In 1789, President George Washington proclaimed November 26 for the day of Thanksgiving. Then in 1863 President Lincoln wanted it observed on the last Thursday of November. This date lasted for 75 years. President Roosevelt proclaimed Thanksgiving Day to be observed one week earlier. His purpose was to make the period between Christmas and Thanksgiving longer. Today Thanksgiving is still celebrated on the third Thursday in November.

Did the teacher say Monday was Parent-Teacher Conference? Oh boy, that's all I need.

I haven't been that bad, but I haven't been that good either. I hope he forgets about the time I put a tack on his chair.

Oh, I forgot about my grades. They haven't been all that outstanding either, have they? Maybe if I don't tell my folks about the conferences. Oh, I bet my little sister already told them. Maybe I can convince them they don't need to go. What could I use as an excuse? Hm?

SPORTS

BY R.
DOCKENDORFRandy Predicts
Future Season

Welcome to the 1973-74 basketball season and the predictions that go with it! As you recall, the football picks weren't too bad, as I hit 4-5 games for 80% correct. However, I doubt that I'll do that good during the cage season. Basketball is both exciting and unpredictable, and I have to worry about the latter. Although the Comets should be strong this year, they have a tough schedule in December, with two key conference games. Keeping that in mind, let's go!

Corsica opens the season at home against Geddes. The Rams' five lettermen are six foot or taller, but the home court advantage and Mr. Krietlow's pride as an incentive should make it a happy opener for CORSICA.

The Comets run into trouble when they meet Tripp for their second game. The Wildcats have three starters back from last year, the use of sophomores from last year's 'B' team, and two games under their belt. On the other hand, Corsica will have the home court and a week's rest (plus revenge from last year). Not so, at least for this year as I give the nod to TRIPP.

The all-important conference opener with Ethan is next in line and could be a tossup. The Rustlers lost two starters (Kevin Storm and Bill Fergen) but have others back to fill in and try to improve last year's 20-5 record. I should pick Ethan, but if Tom Miller thinks Corsica is one of the teams to beat, who can argue with him? CORSICA.

The Comets will travel to no ordinary gym when they meet Armour. Just the idea of the "Crackerbox" is enough to unnerve you. No matter how bad they are, the Packers seem to hold a jinx over Corsica at home. The Comets may have a better team, but fortune smiles on ARMOUR.

CHS returns home for a CBH encounter with Kimball. The Kiotes were hurt by graduation, which took away hot shooting Joe Bjorkman. The Comets almost won at Kimball last year, so it looks like an undefeated conference record will continue for CORSICA.

Corsica travels to Delmont for its final game before the CBH conference tournament. Although the Wildcats have some small players, they have proved they can be tough in any sport. They have the home court advantage, also. Do you suppose a certain teacher at CHS could persuade her husband-coach to tilt the game toward us? Well, it's at least worth a try! In the meantime, bu a small margin, I pick DELMONT.

I'm not saying the team id bad, but the three team that I predicted will have played one more game than us, and the two away games are on floors we're not used to. Even with these factors against us, show me I'm wrong and that you can do it!

hard, and Kent was no exception. Some of his impressive stats are 20 of Corsica's 28 touchdowns, running for over 1,000 yards two years straight, punting kicking, catching passes, playing safety, and being an important part of Corsica's championship team.

PLAYERS COMMENT ON SEASON

by Randy Olawsky

During the past few weeks, you have probably seen the basketball players as well as the coaches, working very hard trying to get ready for the up-coming basketball season. Here are some of the comments that the coaches and some of the players had to say about the up-coming season.

Mr. Krietlow: "We should have a much improved season over last year. We've nine returning lettermen, which shows we have the experience a team needs to have a winning season. The boys will be small compared to other years, but they are going to be mighty fast!"

Duane Vanden Hoek: "The team shouldn't be too bad. We will be fairly small, but should be able to overcome this with our speed."

Mick Schrank: "I don't want to talk about it."

Curt Mjilenberg: "If everyone stays in shape like me, we shouldn't have any troubles."

Arend Kuyper: "If we keep in shape and keep on improving we should be able to be a contender for the conference."

These hard-working men have been willing enough to share their point of view. So the least the faculty and students can do is support them in the up-coming basketball season.

Help Wanted

by Supt. Mel Droppers

We need an employee who has sufficient know-how and want to, to complete a full day's work everyday.

Management assumes he will be on time ready to begin his duties and will rely on accomplishment rather than excuses at day's end.

Further, management expects him to be fairly neat clean, and friendly. To that should be added a pleasant smile and the common courtesies expected of civilized people.

Such a man should be able to follow directions without sulking and to do his work without complaining.

It is also expected that he will be truthful, honest loyal and sufficiently intelligent to lend a helping hand and mind in cases of emergencies.

In addition, if such a man has the ambition and proper training, management reserves the right to promote him to a higher position.

Supt. note: Such a man or woman is always wanted in every organization. So if you have not yet acquired the characteristics of the good employee-described above, start acquiring, NOW!

got for his efforts was 20% and five years. Madrid also pointed out the comforts of the state pen. As much as he loves to walk on the cool grass, sit under a tree and rap with a friend, the sign, "Keep off the Grass," does not permit him to do so.

All three men stressed the importance of completing school. 85% of the men doing time on the hill in Sioux Falls are high school drop-outs. "Your chances of ending up in the pen are 100% better if you drop out of high school," recalled Walt.

Security Guard Schroder closed the presentation of "Operation Pitfall" with this comment, "complete your education, find your peace and happiness, but remember, you won't find it behind bar."

UP-- IT HAS MANY MEANINGS

This is a selection taken from The Reader's Digest written by Franks. Endicott

We've got a two letter word we use constantly that may have more meanings than any other word. The word is UP.

It is easy to understand UP meaning toward the sky or toward the top of a list. But when we waken, why do we wake UP? At a meeting, why does a topic come up, why do participants, speak UP, and why are the officers UP for election? And why is it UP to the secretary to write UP a report?

Often the little word isn't needed, but we use it anyway. We brighten UP a room, light UP a cigar, polish UP the silver, lock UP the house, and fix UP the old car.

At other times, it has special meanings. People stir UP trouble, line UP for tickets, work UP an appetite, think UP excuses, and get tied UP in traffic. To be dressed is one thing, but to be dressed UP is special. It may be confusing, but a drain must be opened UP because it is stopped UP. We open UP a store in the morning and close it UP at night. We seemed to be mixed UP about UP.

To be UP on the proper use of UP look UP the word in your dictionary. In one desk-sized dictionary, UP takes UP half a page, and listed definitions add UP to about 40. If you are UP to it, you might try building UP a list of the many ways in which UP is used. It will take UP a lot of your time, but, if you don't give UP, you may wind UP with a thousand.

CONSERVE . . .

BUT DON'T

by Carol Hubers

How would you like to live the life of a skeleton? Pretty silly question isn't it, since there aren't too many of them walking around. How many skeletons do you see at parties, dances, games, or other social activities? Let's face it. Skeletons just don't get out much.

These days maybe staying home would solve many of the problems such as the energy shortage, the gas shortage, the food shortage, etc. . . . Of course, living a life in solitude would probably help, but it would also drive a person crazy. The United States is centered around its social life. If we take that away, the possibility arises that we could go back to primitive life.

Think about it! Conserve during the crisis but don't isolate yourself. There are many solutions to the problems of conserving energy the smart way.

Their attention to business may absorb their attention and energy leaving little time for their loved ones. Your lucky day is Sunday, if you are a Sagittarius.
